- (b) where the objection sets forth any legal impediment to a marriage between the parties, or any refusal of consent on the part of any person whose consent is required to such marriage, the registrar or marriage officer shall refer the matter to the Supreme Court (which shall decide upon the same in as summary a way and as expeditiously as the circumstances of the case will permit), and shall suspend the issue of his certificate until he receives a certified copy of the Supreme Court's decision to the effect that the parties are not in respect of the said objection disqualified from contracting such marriage, or where the objection is in the nature of a refusal of consent that such refusal of consent is unreasonable and ought not to interfere with such marriage.

(4) If it appears to the Supreme Court that the objection in case of an objection to a marriage, was frivolous and vexatious the court may condemn the party making it to pay, in addition to costs and all civil damages to which he may be liable a fine of eighty dollars, to be enforced in the same way as a judgment of the Supreme Court.

22. Whenever a marriage does not take place within three months of the date of the registrar's certificate, or a marriage officers certificate, or a licence granted under section 19 of this Act, the certificate or licence, as the case may be, shall be void, and no person shall proceed to solemnize the marriage until new notice has been given and certificate issued or a new licence has been granted.

(3) If the judge is satisfied after hearing such evidence as may be adduced that such marriage has been proved he shall make an order to that effect, and shall certify the same to the Registrar General, who shall thereupon cause the marriage to be specially registered in accordance with the terms of the order.

(4) When a marriage is ordered to be registered in accordance with the provisions of this section the Registrar General shall insert the particulars required to be registered in such of the forms prescribed in the Schedules to this Act as may be suitable and shall sign the same and make a reference to the said order and the date thereof, and shall file the form in its appropriate place.
