6 Section 6 is deemed to have come into force on 1st April 1999 by 5 of 2007.
(b) has served in the public service for a minimum period of twenty-five years and at least eight of those years as a Permanent Secretary, on that person’s retirement from office, a pension at a rate of one seven hundred and twentieth of that person’s pensionable emoluments in respect of each completed month of pensionable service as if that person had served for a period of forty years, save that the pension payable to that person shall not exceed two thirds of the pensionable emoluments paid to that person during that person’s period of service in the public service.

8. A person to whom a pension is payable under section 7 shall be granted in addition to such pension, a gratuity equal to ten times of one quarter of that person’s pensionable emoluments.

9. (1) Subject to the provisions of this Act, where the other public service of an officer to whom this section applies has been wholly under one or more scheduled administrations and his aggregate service would have qualified him had it been wholly service in the public service under the Government of The Bahamas for a pension under this Act, he may, on his retirement from the public service, be granted in respect of his service in public service under the Government of The Bahamas a pension of such an amount as shall bear the same proportion to the amount of pension for which he would have been eligible had his service been wholly in public service under the Government of The Bahamas as the aggregate amounts of his pensionable emoluments during service in public service under the Government of The Bahamas shall bear to the aggregate amounts of his pensionable emoluments throughout his service in the group.

(2) In determining for the purposes of this section the pension for which an officer would have been eligible if his service had been wholly service in public service under the Government of The Bahamas —
(a) his pensionable emoluments shall be determined by reference to the pensionable emoluments enjoyed by him at the date of his retirement from the public service except that where the officer is not serving under a scheduled administration at that date, the date upon which he was last transferred from the public service under a scheduled administration shall be deemed to be the date of his retirement for the purposes of this paragraph;

(b) regard shall be had to the condition that pension may not exceed two-thirds of the highest pensionable emoluments enjoyed by him at any time during his public service;

(c) no period of public service under a scheduled administration or under the Government of The Bahamas in respect of which no pension or gratuity is granted to him by that administration or Government, as the case may be, shall be taken into account.

(3) For the purposes of this section the aggregate amount of an officer’s pensionable emoluments shall be taken as the total amount of pensionable emoluments which he would have received or enjoyed had he been on duty on full pay in his substantive office or offices throughout his period of service in the group:

Provided that —

(a) in calculating the aggregate amount of his pensionable emoluments, no account shall be taken of any service under a scheduled administration or under the Government of The Bahamas in respect of which no pension or gratuity is granted to him by that administration or Government as the case may be;

(b) where service in a civil capacity otherwise than in a pensionable office is taken into account as pensionable service, the officer’s aggregate pensionable emoluments during that service shall be taken into account to the same extent as that service is taken into account as pensionable service.
(4) Where an officer entered the public service under the Government of The Bahamas prior to the first day of January 1963, his pension may be calculated as though none of the scheduled administrations under which he has served had been included in the First Schedule to this Act, if this should be to his advantage.

10. (1) Subject to the provisions of this Act, where the other public service of an officer to whom this section applies has not included service under any of the scheduled administrations, and his aggregate service would have qualified him, had it been wholly service in public service under the Government of The Bahamas for a pension under this Act, he may on his retirement from public service, be granted in respect of his service in public service under the Government of The Bahamas, a pension of an amount equal to the pension for which he would have been eligible under subsection (1) of section 4, if there had been no qualifying period and if he had had no other public service.

(2) Where the officer is not in public service under the Government of The Bahamas at the time of such retirement, his pensionable emoluments for the purposes of the preceding subsection shall be those which would have been taken for the purpose of computing his pension if he had retired from the public service and been granted a pension at the date of his last transfer from public service under the Government of The Bahamas.

11. Where a part only of the other public service of an officer to whom this section applies has been under one or more of the scheduled administrations, the provisions of section 9 shall apply; but in calculating the amount of pension, regard shall be had only to service in the group.

7 Section 10 had effect from 1st January, 1963 (8 of 1964, s. 11).
8 Section 11 had effect from 1st January, 1963 (8 of 1964, s. 11).
12. Sections 9, 10 and 11 of this Act shall apply only in the case of an officer transferred to or from public service under the Government of The Bahamas from or to other public service.

13. It shall be lawful for the Governor-General to grant to any public officer who, although he has not completed a period of service which would have entitled him to a pension, is compelled to quit the public service by reason of severe bodily injury, occasioned without his own default in the discharge of his public duty, a gratuity not exceeding three months’ pay for every two years of service, or a pension not exceeding ten-sixtieths of his annual salary.

14. It shall be lawful for the Governor-General to grant to any public officer who is constrained from infirmity of mind or body to leave the public service before the completion of the period which would entitle him to a pension, such sum of money by way of gratuity as the Governor-General may think proper, but so as that no such gratuity shall exceed the amount of one month’s pay for each year of service.

15. (1) If a public officer holding a pensionable office who has completed the period of service which would qualify him to receive a pension under the provisions of subsection (1) of section 4 of this Act, is compelled to leave the public service of The Bahamas in consequence of the abolition of his office, or for the purpose of facilitating improvements in the organisation of the department to which he belongs, by reason of which greater efficiency or economy can be effected, he may be granted a temporary pension at the rate of one-seven hundred and twentieth part of his salary in respect of each completed month of such of his service which is pensionable under the provisions of this Act or any other Act, subject to the condition that he shall be liable to be recalled to the public service of The Bahamas as provided in section 18 of this Act:

Provided that, if such public officer is not qualified for other employment, or if there is no reason, in the opinion of the Governor-General, to expect that he can be shortly re-employed in the public service of The Bahamas, a pension (or, if he is eligible to elect under the provisions of subsection (2) of section 4 of this Act, a reduced pension and gratuity) may be granted to him free from the above-mentioned condition.

(2) If a public officer holding a pensionable office who has not completed the period of service which would qualify him to receive a pension under the provisions of subsection (1) of section 4 of this Act, is compelled to leave the public service of The Bahamas in consequence of the abolition of his office, or for the purpose of facilitating improvements in the organisation of the department to which he belongs, by reason of which greater efficiency or economy can be effected, it shall be lawful for the Governor-General to grant him a gratuity not exceeding three months’ salary for every completed two years of such of his service which is pensionable under the provisions of this Act or any other Act.

(3) Any public officer who is compelled to leave the public service of The Bahamas in consequence of the abolition of his office or for the purpose of facilitating improvements in the organisation of the department to which he belongs, by reason of which greater efficiency or economy can be effected may, in addition to the benefits which may be granted to him under subsection (1) or (2) of this section, be granted a gratuity of one-third of his annual pensionable emoluments at the date upon which he leaves the said public service.

16. (1) Subject to the provisions of this Act, no pension shall be granted to any public officer except on his retirement from the public service in one of the following cases —

(a) a case referred to in subsection (1) of section 15 of this Act;

(b) a case referred to in section 17, 20 or 21 of this Act;

(c) any public officer attaining the age of sixty years;

10 Subsection (3) had effect from 30th October, 1974, (22 of 1974).
10 Subsections (1), (2), (3) and (4) had effect from 30th October, 1974, (22 of 1974).
(d) on medical evidence to the satisfaction of the Governor-General acting in accordance with the advice of the appropriate Commission that an officer is incapable by reason of some infirmity of mind or body of discharging the duties of his office and that such infirmity is likely to be permanent.

(2) Notwithstanding anything contained in subsection (1) of this section, any public officer may retire at any time after attaining the age of fifty-five years or on completion of thirty years service in a pensionable office, whichever is the earlier.

(3) Subject to the provisions of Article 115 of the Constitution, the Governor-General, acting in accordance with the advice of the appropriate Commission, may require any public officer whose appointment in a pensionable office is confirmed on or after the thirtieth day of October 1974, to retire from the public service at any time after the officer attains the age of fifty-five years and any public officer who is so required to retire shall retire accordingly.

(4) Every public officer shall, upon attaining the age of sixty-five years, retire from the public service.
17. Where a public officer’s service is terminated on the ground that, having regard to the conditions of the public service, the usefulness of the officer thereto and all the other circumstances of the case, such termination is desirable in the public interest, and a pension, gratuity or other allowance cannot otherwise be granted to him under the provisions of this Act, the Governor-General may, if he thinks fit, grant to such officer such pension, gratuity or other allowance as he thinks just and proper, not exceeding in amount that for which he would be eligible if he were suffering from some infirmity of mind or body likely to be permanent.

18. With the exception of persons entitled to pensions under the provisions of section 20 or 21 of this Act, every public officer to whom a pension shall have been granted before he shall have attained the age of fifty years shall, until he has attained that age, be liable to be called upon to fill in The Bahamas any public office or situation under the Crown for which his previous public service may render him eligible; and if he shall decline, when called upon to do so, to take upon himself such office or situation, or shall decline or neglect to execute the duties thereof satisfactorily being in a competent state of health, he shall forfeit his right to the pension which has been granted to him.

19. If any public officer to whom a pension has been granted under any Act is appointed to another office in The Bahamas, the Governor-General may either, notwithstanding the provisions of any law prescribing the remuneration of such other office, reduce such remuneration in view of the pension which the officer is receiving, or may order that the pension granted to the officer shall cease and that, if the officer subsequently retires in circumstances in which he may be granted a pension, he shall be granted, in lieu of his previous pension, a pension computed as if the periods of his service in The Bahamas had been continuous, and that such pension shall be based on his pensionable emoluments on his previous or final retirement from the service of The Bahamas, whichever are the greater:

Provided that if, on his previous retirement, he was paid a gratuity and pension, the gratuity to be paid to him

11 Section 18 had effect from 30th October, 1974 (22 of 1974).

20. 12 No pension shall be granted under the provisions of this Act to any public officer who has been transferred to public service except on his retirement from the public service —

(a) on or after attaining the age at which he is permitted by the law or regulations of the public service in which he is last employed to retire on pension or gratuity or, if no age is prescribed by the said law or regulations, he retires on or after attaining the age of fifty; or

(b) in any other circumstances in which he is permitted by the said law or regulations to retire on pension or gratuity:

Provided that paragraph (b) of this section shall not apply in the case of a female public officer who retires for the reason that she has married or is about to marry.

21. (1) Subject to the provisions of subsections (2) and (3) of this section, the provisions of this Act relating to the grant of a pension shall apply to a person to whom the provisions of section 13 of the repealed Act apply as if such person had been transferred from the public service of The Bahamas to employment in the service of any of the scheduled administrations after the coming into operation of this Act, unless such person was in receipt of a pension under the provisions of the repealed Act at the date of the coming into operation of this Act in which case the provisions of the repealed Act shall continue to apply.

12 Section 20 had effect from 1st January, 1963 (8 of 1964, s. 11).
(2) A person to whom the provisions of this Act apply under subsection (1) of this section, who had ultimately retired from the service of the Crown or the service of any other of the scheduled administrations prior to the date of the coming into operation of this Act and who was not, at the date of the coming into operation of this Act, in receipt of a pension under the provisions of the repealed Act shall, subject to the provisions of this Act, be entitled to a pension under the provisions of this Act with effect from the date of the coming into operation of this Act.

(3) A person who becomes entitled to the benefits of this Act by virtue of subsections (1) and (2) of this section shall cease to be entitled to the benefits of the repealed Act.

22. 13 (1) Whenever any public officer holding a pensionable office under the Government of The Bahamas ceases to be the holder of such office by reason of his transfer with the consent of the Governor-General to the service of an approved authority, and such person subsequently retires from the service of the approved authority in such circumstances that, had he remained a public officer, he would have been eligible for pension under the provisions of this Act, then in any such case the following provisions of this section shall have effect.

(2) Any pension payable to any such person as is mentioned in subsection (1) of this section by the approved authority to whose service he has been transferred shall be calculated and granted to him in respect of his total service under the Government of The Bahamas and with such approved authority taken together and such total service shall be reckoned as continuous service for pension purposes.

(3) There shall be payable out of the Consolidated Fund upon the warrant of the Minister of Finance to an approved authority as a contribution to every pension paid in accordance with subsection (2) of this section, such amounts as would have been payable to the person concerned by way of pension under this Act, if such person had retired from the public service and if he had been granted a pension under this Act upon the date of his ceasing to hold a public office.

13 Section 22 had effect from 1st January, 1970 (22 of 1974, s. 10).
(4) The Governor-General shall not consent to the transfer of a public officer to the service of an approved authority under this section unless he is satisfied that such approved authority has established or will establish in respect of such officer a pension scheme not less favourable to such officer than the scheme applicable to him under the provisions of this Act.

23. Whenever any person employed by any approved authority in pensionable circumstances is transferred with the consent of the Governor-General to any pensionable office under the Government of The Bahamas, the service of such person under that approved authority shall be reckoned for the purposes of this Act to be pensionable service under the Government of The Bahamas and as continuous service for the purpose of computing his pension under this Act.

(2) The Governor-General shall not consent to the transfer of any person to pensionable public service under the provisions of this section unless and until the approved authority from which he is transferred has made satisfactory arrangements with the Treasurer for the reimbursement to the Consolidated Fund of such proportion of the cost of any pension or other benefit granted to that person under the provisions of this Act as the length of his service with that approved authority shall bear to the total length of his continuous service with such authority and under the Government of The Bahamas taken together.

(3) A pension granted to any public officer under the provisions of this section shall be in full satisfaction and discharge of any right to pension which such officer might otherwise have had if he had not been transferred to public service.

24. (1) Subject to the provisions of this Act, service in respect of which a pension or gratuity may be granted under this Act must be unbroken service.

(2) Subject to the provisions of subsections (3) and (4) of this section, in computing the period of service in respect of which an officer may be granted a pension or gratuity under this Act, the whole period of public service of such

(3) Where a subordinate police officer or a subordinate officer transfers (or before the first day of July 1967), transferred from the relevant service to service in an office under the Government of The Bahamas, his period of service in the relevant service shall be taken into account in relation to the grant of a pension or gratuity under this Act if at the date of his retirement he is otherwise eligible for pension or gratuity thereunder:

Provided that where at the date of his transfer as aforesaid any such officer was entitled to retire on pension under the provisions of the relevant Act, the pension or gratuity to be awarded under this Act in respect of his period of service in the relevant service shall be calculated at the rate to which such officer is entitled under the said provisions.

(b) a police officer to whom the provisions of paragraph (a) of subsection (1) of section 66 of that Act apply.

(4) Where an officer has been deemed pursuant to section 36 of the Public Service Act (now repealed) to have left the public service and in respect of his public service has been granted a gratuity under that section, no account shall be taken of any period of service of such officer served prior to the first day of July 1964, for the purposes of computing the period in respect of which a pension or gratuity may be awarded to such officer under the provisions of this Act.

25. (1) Where any public officer holding a pensionable office, having completed not less than ten years of service in the public service, retires from that service at an age other than that at which or in circumstances other than those in which he may be granted a pension under the provisions of this Act or, in the case of an officer to whom section 13 of the Public Service Act applies, under the provisions of that section in respect of such service, the Governor-General may, if he thinks fit, grant to such officer in respect of each year of such service a gratuity amounting to four per centum of his pensionable emoluments.

(2) For the purposes of this section the expression “public officer” shall be deemed to include a temporary officer.

Provided that in the case of the death of an officer referred to in section 16(2) the amount payable under the foregoing provisions of this subsection shall not be less than such amount as would have been payable to that officer as gratuity had he exercised, immediately before his death, the option to retire provided in that section.

(2) Where any payment is made by the Government in respect of the death of such an officer as aforesaid under the provisions of any law relating to workmen’s compensation, the amount of any gratuity granted under the provisions of this section shall be reduced by the amount of such payment.

27.  (1) A gratuity calculated in accordance with the provisions of the Second Schedule to this Act may be granted under this section by the Governor-General if in any case he thinks fit, to any person who retires from employment in the public service of The Bahamas in the circumstances set out in that Schedule but to whom a pension or gratuity may not otherwise be granted under the preceding provisions of this Act.

(2) Where any person other than a public officer dies while in the public service of The Bahamas, the Governor-General may grant to his legal personal representative a gratuity of an amount not exceeding the annual salary of such person at the time of his death where such person was employed for a period of not less than five years, and where such person was employed for a period of less than five years a gratuity of an amount not exceeding one-half of the annual salary of such person at the time of his death, and, in relation to any such person as aforesaid whose employment in the public service was of a casual nature, for the reference in this subsection to annual salary there shall be substituted a reference to an average annual wage such as is mentioned in paragraph 2 of the said Second Schedule.

33. (1) An approved authority may second a person holding a pensionable office under that approved authority for service in the public service upon such terms and conditions and for such period not exceeding two years at a time as it thinks fit.

(2) Whenever a person employed by an approved authority is seconded under this section, he shall not by reason of the secondment cease to be employed by that approved authority and his conditions of service under the approved authority shall continue to apply to him during the period of his secondment as if he were the holder of the office under that approved authority, which he was holding immediately before the date of his secondment:
