(2) The modifications of this Act which may be made by virtue of subsection (1) shall include provision —
(a) for securing that acts, omissions and events having any effect for the purposes of the law of the country in respect of which the agreement is made shall have a corresponding effect for the purposes of this Act (but not so far as to confer a right to double benefit or assistance);

(b) for determining in cases where rights accrue both under this Act and under the law of the said country which of these rights shall be available to the person concerned;

(c) for making provision as to administration and enforcement contained in this Act applicable also for the law of the said country;

(d) for making any necessary financial adjustments by payments into or out of the Fund.

61. Stamp duty shall not be chargeable upon any draft or order or receipt in respect of benefit or assistance or upon any receipt given in respect of any other payment out of the Fund pursuant to subsection (3) of section 44 or upon any receipt given by an officer of the Board for or in respect of any sum payable into the Fund.

62. (1) The Minister may make regulations required by this Act to be made or for the purpose of modifying or affecting the operation of any provision of this Act, or as the Minister may consider necessary or desirable generally for the better administration of this Act.

(2) Without prejudice to the generality of subsection (1), the Minister may by such regulations —

(a) prescribe any matter which may be or is required to be prescribed under the provisions of this Act;

(b) require any employer —

(i) to submit returns of persons employed by him at such intervals and in such manner as may be prescribed;

(ii) to take reasonable steps to investigate the circumstances of every accident or disease of which notice is given to him;

(iii) to give the Board such notices or returns as may be thereby required of any accident or disease whether fatal or not which has occurred in his place of employment;
(c) except such categories of insured persons as may be specified therein from liability to pay contributions for such periods as may be prescribed;

(d) provide for determining the circumstances in which a person is or is not to be deemed for the purposes of this Act to be a dependant of another person;

(e) provide for different provisions of any regulations to come into operation on different days.

(3) Regulations may provide for the recovery on summary conviction of monetary penalties in respect of any offence under this Act being a contravention of or failure to comply with regulations, so, however, that such penalties shall not exceed one hundred dollars for each offence or, where the offence consists of continuing any such contravention or failure after conviction thereof, one hundred dollars together with a further one hundred dollars for each day on which it is so continued.

(4) Any power conferred by this Act to make regulations or orders may be exercised —

(a) either in relation to all cases to which the power extends or in relation to all such cases subject to specified exceptions or in relation to any specified cases or classes of case; and

(b) so as to make, as respects the cases in relation to which it is exercised —

(i) the full provision to which the power extends or any less provision (whether by way of exception or otherwise);

(ii) the same provision for all cases in relation to which the power is exercised or different provision for different cases or classes of case or different provision as respects the same case or class of case for different purposes of this Act;

(iii) any such provision either unconditionally or subject to any specified condition.

(2) In subsection (1) the expression “subject to affirmative resolution of both chambers of Parliament” in relation to regulations or orders means that any such regulations or orders are not to come into operation unless and until approved by a resolution of each of those chambers.

64. (1) On and after the declared day, in any action for damages for personal injuries brought by an employed person against his employer (including any such action arising out of a contract) there shall in assessing such damages be taken into account, against any loss of wages or profits which has accrued or probably will accrue to the employed person from the injuries, one-half of the value of any rights which have accrued or probably will accrue to him therefrom in respect of injury benefit or disablement benefit for the five years beginning with the time when the cause of action accrued; but this subsection shall not be taken as requiring both the gross amount of the damages before taking into account such rights and the net amount after taking them into account to be found separately.

(2) The reference in subsection (1) to assessing the damages for personal injuries shall, in cases where damages otherwise recoverable are subject to reduction under section 3 of the Contributory Negligence Act, or are limited by or under any other enactment or by contract, be taken as referring to the total damages which would have been recoverable apart from the reduction or limitation.

(3) In assessing damages in respect of the death of a person in any action under the Fatal Accidents Act, or the Carriage by Air Act, 1961 and the Carriage by Air (Supplementary Provisions) Act, 1962, of the United Kingdom as extended to The Bahamas there shall not be taken into account any right to death benefit under this Act resulting from the death of such person.

(4) For the purposes of this section —

(a) the expression “personal injury” includes any disease and any impairment of the physical or mental condition of a person, and the expression “injured” shall be construed accordingly;
