OBJECTS AND REASONS

Clause 1 of the Bill sets out the short title and commencement.

Clause 3 of the Bill provides for the appointment of a Registrar of Records and prescribes the responsibilities of the Registrar of Records in relation to the administration of births, deaths and marriages, and the administration of deeds, documents and records.

Clause 4 of the Bill sets out the qualifications of the Registrar of Records which notes the Registrar is no longer required to be an attorney but may be eligible for appointment if he has the required years experience in finance, accounting or business or corporation management and administration.

AMEND

Clause 5 of the Bill sets out of the appointment of one or more persons as Deputy Registrar and Assistant Registrar and outlines the obligation of Deputies and Assistants to assist the Registrar of Records and perform required duties and functions as directed in the temporary absence of the Registrar.

Clause 6 of the Bill vests the power, authority, jurisdiction, rights, privileges, duties and liabilities of the Registrar General in the Registrar of Records, as the post of Registrar General will become abolished upon the Bill coming into operation. References in any written law to Registrar General are prescribed to change to Registrar of Records.

Clause 7 of the Bill grants the power to administer oaths and take solemn declarations or affirmations to the Registrar of Records, Deputy Registrar of Records, Assistant Registrar of Records or other public officer in the Registry of Records Department who has been designated in writing by the Registrar.

Clause 8 of the Bill provides a transitional provision prescribing the persons who are currently appointed to the position of Deputy Registrar General and Assistant Registrar General to hold the office of Deputy Registrar of Records and Assistant Registrar of Records upon the Bill coming into force.

Clause 9 of the Bill sets out the power of the Minister responsible for the Registry of Records to make Rules.

Clause 10 of the Bill repeals the Registrar General Act.

Clause 11 of the Bill prescribes a consequential amendment to the Acts noted within the Schedule which change references from Registrar General to Registrar of Records.
